
Our Religious Landscape Has Changed

Years ago there were only a handful of religious institutions to deal with in our nation, and people were very religious. Today, there are thousands upon thousands of religious bodies that inundate our land. With so much variety in religious thought, people are confused in what religion is right and accurate. Further, the failures of many religious bodies, specifically its leadership and followers (parishioners) in conduct and character is astounding, and as a result, people are becoming less religious, disenchanted with organized religion. This has given way to the rise of atheism, agnosticism, and skepticism.

What Can We Do?

There are several things we can do to reverse the unfortunate state of affairs in our religious landscape. First, teach and discuss which religion in our world is superior to all others. Second, show which church upholds true religion. And third, by living out the commands of that religion, stemming a moral and ethical change the world hasn't seen.

It is our intention in our 28th Annual Lectures to present lessons and discussions that will take us from the beginning of time, showing us how religion began and evolved, where our differences in religion arose, what religion is superior to all others and the reasons why, and finally, what is the process to become part of this true religion. Our aim is to educate the world in which religious system is logical and reasonable, superior to all others.
